Editorial
Mary Spongberg 389

Thematic Articles
Introduction: Australian Gender and Women's Studies Conference 2010
Margie Ripper 391–392

Audacious Feminisms: Newest Sexes, Races, Genders and Globes. Keynote Address for the Australian National Women's Studies Association, Adelaide, Australia, 30 June 2010
Zillah Eisenstein 393–412

The White Man's Burden: Patriarchal White Epistemic Violence and Aboriginal Women's Knowledges within the Academy
Aileen Moreton-Robinson 413–431

Where are the Women in Multiculturalism? Contributions on Culture and Religion from an Anthropologist of Multiculturalism in Indonesia
Lyn Parker 433–452

Gendered and Class Relations of Obesity: Confusing Findings, Deficient Explanations
Dorothy H. Broom and Megan Warin 453–467

Non-Thematic Articles
Marriage 'Among the Murkans': Miles Franklin's Marriage Problem Stories 'Uncle Robert's Wedding Present' (1908) and 'Teaching Him' (1909)
Janet Lee 469–483

Out of the Community: Establishing 'Women's Studies' as an Academic Discipline
Pam Papadelos 485–500

Review Essay
Mothering in the Twenty-first Century: New Pressures, Old Problems
Jane Maree Maher 501–507

Reviews 509–514

Volume Contents and Author Index, Volume 26, 2011 515–520
Notes for Contributors

Australian Feminist Studies is proud to sustain a clear political commitment to feminist teaching, research and scholarship. We are a fully refereed international journal. We publish work of the highest calibre that shares our concerns with issues in any of a spectrum of feminisms.

We wish, too, to promote cutting-edge feminist scholarship both within and beyond conventional academic disciplines. We publish innovative course outlines and discussion of feminist pedagogy; reports on local, national and international conferences, analyses of government and trade union policies that concern women, discussion in cultural and post-colonial studies that involve feminist analyses.

We invite contributions, and require electronic submission using doc., rtf or similar format (but not pdf). Electronic contributions should be addressed to Cathy Hawkins, Assistant Editor, and sent to: Email: afs@mq.edu.au. Please ensure that your submission conforms to the referencing guide set out below.

Please send all other correspondence (except reviews) to:
Professor Mary Spongberg
Modern History, Politics and International Relations
Faculty of the Arts
Macquarie University
NSW 2109 Australia
Phone: +61 2 9850-8887
E-mail: Cathy.Hawkins afs@mq.edu.au

Please send review copies of books and book reviews to:
Australian Feminist Studies
4th Floor, Building WhA
Modern History, Politics and International Relations
Faculty of the Arts
Macquarie University
NSW 2109 Australia
E-mail: Nicole.Moore, Reviews Editor: afs@mq.edu.au

Articles must follow the Chicago referencing style and be no longer than 8000 words.

In text referencing

Single author

Two or more authors

More than three authors

Multiple references
Light 1972; Keller 1896a, 1896b, 1907.

Researching

Book

Edited book

Chapter from edited book

Article

Web reference

Copyright

Authors are sent to at least two readers for assessment; the readers are not sent the names of authors, and authors are not sent the names of the readers who assess their material. AFS then asks authors of articles that have been accepted to provide an additional copy of their articles on floppy disk.

Copyright is a condition of publication that authors assign copyright or licence the publication rights in their articles, including abstracts, to Taylor & Francis. This enables us to ensure full copyright protection and to disseminate the article, and of course the Journal, to the widest possible readership in print and electronic formats as appropriate. Authors retain many rights under the Taylor & Francis rights policies, which can be found at http://www.tandfonline.com/authors/remem/remembering/stories/index.cfm. For further information and FAQs, please see http://journalauthors.tandf.co.uk/preparation/permission.asp.