Aims and Scope:
Asia Pacific Journal of Counselling and Psychotherapy is an international, peer-reviewed publication of the Asian Professional Councillors Association, Hong Kong. The Journal aims to provide a lively forum for academic and research papers with a focus on the best practice in the field of counselling and psychotherapy. It sets out to offer a keen resource for professionals, and to create dialogue between them in the Asia Pacific region and internationally. It hopes to provide information from experts contributing to a broader understanding of the practice of counselling and psychotherapy in the cultural context of the Asia Pacific Regions. It is also intended that the Journal provide opportunity and encouragement to Bachelor, Masters and Doctoral students in counselling to publish their work. It will strive to publish original articles of quality and welcomes authors from Hong Kong, the Asia Pacific Region and internationally.

Peer review integrity:
All articles in this journal have undergone rigorous peer review, based on initial editor screening and anonymous refereeing by at least two independent referees.
