Special Issue: Old Challenges and New Opportunities for the MDGs: Now and Beyond 2015
Guest Editors: Matthew Clarke and Simon Feeny

Special Issue Articles
Old challenges and new opportunities for the MDGs: now and beyond 2015
Matthew Clarke and Simon Feeny 509–519
A fresh look at the MDGs
Jan Vandemoortele 520–528
‘All the world’s a stage’: structure, agency and accountability in international aid
Gerhard Hoffstaedter and Chris Roche 529–543
Cultivating model developing citizens: exposing the grassroots to the MDGs
Tanya Jakimow 544–561
The MDGs and the incomplete relationship between development and foreign aid
Thomas W.D. Davis 562–578
The MDGs in Myanmar: relevant or redundant?
Anthony Ware 579–596
Maternal health in Lao PDR: repositioning the goal posts
Anna Scopaz, Liz Eckermann and Matthew Clarke 597–611

Articles
Gender difference of the informal sector wage gap: a longitudinal analysis for the Korean labor market
Joonmo Cho and Donghun Cho 612–629
Environmental constraints and profitability relationships in agriculture: a case study of wheat farming in Bangladesh
Sanzidur Rahman and M Kamrul Hasan 630–643
An empirical analysis of East Asian computer and electronic goods exports
Willem Thorbecke 644–657
Notes on contributors 658–660

Journal of Asia Pacific Economy gratefully acknowledges support from the Department of International Business and Asian Studies, Griffith University, Australia.