Scandinavian Journal of Disability Research

At a conference in Fredrikshavn in 1997 the Nordic Network on Disability Research was established. One of the purposes of this network was to publish a journal in English. Scandinavian Journal of Disability Research. Its main purpose is to disseminate results from social research on disability. ‘Social Research’ is – in this context – understood as a multidisciplinary field, including for example educational, sociological, socio-psychological, historical, legal, economical and socio-medical research. Its defining characteristic is a focus on the relation between persons with disabilities and their environments. The journal welcomes articles from all over the world.

Preparing and submitting your manuscript

Before preparing your submission, please visit the Scandinavian Journal of Disability Research homepage at www.tandfonline.com/sjdr for full instructions for authors, including a complete style guide.

Authors should be submitted online at the Scandinavian Journal of Disability Research site at http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/sjdr. New users should first create an account. Once a user is logged onto the site, submissions should be made via the Author Centre. Online user guides and access to a helpdesk are available on this website.

Authors should prepare and upload two versions of their manuscript. One should be a complete text, including author details and short professional biographies of each author, while the second document identifies the author should be removed from files to allow them to be sent anonymously to reviewers. When uploading files, authors should then be able to define the non-anonymous version as ‘File not for review’.

Submitted manuscripts must be written in English. The authors are themselves responsible for ensuring correct use of the English language. As an author, you are required to secure permission if you want to reproduce any figure, table, or extract from the text of another source. This applies to derivative works as well as ‘derivative reproduction’ (where you have created a new figure or table which derivationally substantially from a copyrighted source). For further information and FAQs, please see http://journalauthors.tandf.co.uk/permission.asp.

Submitted manuscripts are subject to peer review at the discretion of the editor. In order to maintain anonymity during any refereeing process, authors are requested to refrain from, or keep to a minimum, self-referencing.

There are no page charges in Scandinavian Journal of Disability Research.

Proofs will be sent to authors if there is sufficient time to do so. Corrections should be returned within three working days of receipt. Major alterations cannot be accepted.

Copyright
It is a condition of publication that authors assign copyright or license the publication rights in their articles, including abstracts, to the Nordic Network on Disability Research. This enables us to ensure full copyright protection and to disseminate this article, and of course the Journal, to the widest possible readership in print and electronic formats as appropriate. Authors retain many rights under the Taylor & Francis rights policies, which can be found at www.informaworld.com/authors_journals_copyright_position. Authors are themselves responsible for obtaining permission to reproduce copyright material from other sources.

Free article access
As corresponding author, you will receive free access to your article on Taylor & Francis Online. You will be given access to the My authored works section of Taylor & Francis Online, which shows you all your published articles. You can easily view, read, and download your published articles from there. In addition, if someone has cited your article, you will be able to see this information. We are committed to promoting and increasing the visibility of your article and have provided this guidance http://journalauthors.tandf.co.uk/beyondpublication/promotearticle.asp on how you can help.

Reprint and journal copies
Author reprints can be ordered through Rightslink® when you receive your proofs. If you have any questions or requests, please contact the Taylor & Francis Author Services team at reprints@tandf.co.uk. To order a copy of the issue containing your article, please contact our Customer Services team at adhoc@tandf.co.uk.
